HPLC controlled substances analysis carried out strictly following the "Recommended methods for the identification and analysis of cannabis and cannabis products"

NB: The HPLC methods we use are specifically designed to test PBG Laboratories' production extracts with hemp's specific compound matrix. As such, any added solvent or carrier agent such as MCT, hemp seed oil or other will introduce their own compound matrixes that sometimes interfere with the results. Our analytical laboratory specialists warn that they can detect anomalies in the chromatograms with the introduction of such unidentifiable with our methods compounds!
